

1st Fragile X International Congress – Statement of Purpose

Barcelona, Spain, November 7-8, 2024

The aim of this Congress is to bring together clinicians and researchers working in the area of FXS and FXPAC from around the world, giving them the opportunity to

- network
- be informed of the latest research and experiences from colleagues
- workshop ideas through panel discussions
- discuss translational research with clinical applications
- form relationships of future collaboration

All of this is within the context of Fragile X International's annual members conference, which will overlap with the Congress on Friday afternoon, giving opportunity for professionals and member delegates to discuss future research opportunities and learn from each other.

The audience for the first 1.5 days of the Congress will be experts and colleagues, so talks will be high-level and scientific. We will allow members to listen in, to be informed of the latest research, but presentations should be directed to other researchers and clinicians of various disciplines. Discussion will be between clinicians and researchers, and we wish to drive research forward through the meeting of minds.

The core speaker list is that of our Board of Advisors, and we are grateful for their time and leadership. We have aimed to have experts from as many countries as possible, from across the range of topics related to FXS and FXPAC.
